REPORTS TO

Founder & Creative Director

THE ONE-LINE VERSION

We want someone who can take a sitemap, a brand, and a pile of intake notes and turn it into a site that feels inevitable — then build the whole thing in Wix Studio.

THE ROLE

You'll design and build the websites that are the front door to everything our clients do — a designer who builds, not a template-filler. You're the execution arm: we own the strategy and hand you the sitemap, brand, and intake, and you turn them into a site that looks like the brand and works like a system.

THE WORK

What You'll Own

- The design. Turning sitemap, brand, and intake into a designed site — not just arranging what someone hands you.
- The build. Bringing it to life in Wix Studio — responsive and clean across every screen.
- The details. On-page SEO basics, lead forms that actually work, and the standard integrations that make a site earn its keep.
- The finish. QA and revisions against our review, so what ships is something we're all proud to put a client's name on.

THE FIT

Who You Are

- A designer who builds. The taste to design it and the hands to build it in Wix Studio — both halves.
- Systems-minded. You think in structure and automation, not just pages. Email or Wix automations chops are a plus, not a must.
- Detail-obsessed. Responsive behavior, empty states, load — the small stuff, because your users will notice it.
- A finisher. You ship, you take feedback well, and you close the loop.

At R&G, we embed ourselves in our clients' businesses. We don't do one-off projects — we partner as the expert creative strategists who own how the world sees their brand. This role adapts to your skillset: your strengths determine the work you're attached to.

TOOLS YOU MIGHT USE

Comfortable across the tools — Wix Studio, Figma, email marketing tools, and basic on-page SEO, to name a few. You won't need every one, but you should know your way around this kind of kit.
